

Human Rights, Modern Slavery and Child Labor

[Effective Date: 4 April 2022; Last Updated: 20 August 2022]

1.0 Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to outline Satellogic's commitment and actions in support of international efforts to uphold human rights and against modern slavery and child labor. The policy is in alignment with the Satellogic Code of Business Conduct and Ethics, and applicable international and national laws.

2.0 Scope

This Policy applies worldwide to all Satellogic entities, all Employees and all Satellogic contracted third parties.

3.0 Definitions

The Satellogic "Agent" or "Agents" is specifically defined as any member of any Satellogic entity board, any officer of any Satellogic entity, hired personnel, consultants, intermediaries, lobbyists, agents, representatives, independent contractors, subcontractors, and any others who act on Satellogic's behalf.

"Modern slavery" is a broad phrase used to encompass slavery, servitude, forced or compulsory labor and human trafficking.

"Slavery" occurs when ownership is exercised over a person which deprives the person of his or her freedom.

"Servitude" is the obligation to provide services imposed by the use of coercion, while "forced or compulsory labor" refers to any work or service that is performed involuntarily and under the menace of penalty.

"Human trafficking" is the recruitment, transportation, transfer, harboring or receipt of a person by improper means (including but not limited to force, abduction, fraud or coercion) for an illegal or improper purpose, including forced labor. The above definitions are in line with the UK Modern Slavery Act 2015, International Labour Organisation \(ILO\)'s Forced Labour Convention 29 and the 1926 Slavery Convention.

Example types of modern slavery:

Debt bondage/bonded labour	The most widespread form of slavery where people are forced to work to pay off the debt. Often people are tricked into working for little or no pay, with no control over their debt and employment conditions.
Forced labour	Any work or services people are forced to do against their will under threat of punishment.
Human trafficking	Refers to the recruitment, transportation, transfer, harbouring, or receipt of persons under the use of threat and/or force or other forms of coercion with the intent of exploiting that person (e.g. for purposes such as forced prostitution, labour, criminality, marriage or organ removal).
Descent-based slavery	Most traditional form, where people are treated as property, and their “slave” status was passed down the maternal line.
Slavery of children	When a child is exploited for someone else’s gain. This can include child trafficking, child soldiers, child marriage and child domestic slavery.
Forced and/or early marriage	Any situation where persons, regardless of age, have been forced to marry without their consent and cannot leave.

The term “child labor” means hazardous labor or labor provided by a child below a basic minimum age. For the purposes of this policy, Satellogic defines “basic minimum age” and “age for hazardous work” as 15 years and 18 years respectively, or the minimum age set by national law, with any conflict in application by Satellogic to be resolved by the higher age. Certain exceptions may exist and be permitted by Satellogic for supporting the goal of promoting education and work experience as part of a bona fide education program, but only in conformance with local law. The above definitions are in line with the ILO Conventions 138 and 182.

4.0 Commitment

Satellogic endorses the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights and supports the principles contained within the International Bill of Human Rights and the International Labour Organisation’s Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work.

Satellogic is aware and in support of the UN Global Compact and thereby commit to uphold it’s 10 principles, two of which focus on human rights.

Modern slavery is both a crime and a violation of fundamental human rights. Satellogic is committed to the elimination of all forms of modern slavery and to the international effort to abolish child labor. Satellogic takes a zerotolerance approach to such activities and seeks to identify and address such risks in our offices, operations and wider supply chains.

Satellogic is committed to supporting its clients in their efforts to address modern slavery and child labor in their operations and supply chains.
